

Termin'eau at the "Fête de la Science"

This year's "Fête de la Science" is entitled 'Ocean of Knowledge'... It is the perfect opportunity to present the course to schoolchildren and the general public, , isn't it? The course primarily concerns third-year LEA students in the specialised translation and writing course. But what's the point of presenting a course at an event that is all about research? Well, that's exactly what the game is all about: where is the science in Termin'eau?

Come along all day on Friday 4 October to the Village des sciences, Espace des sciences des Champs libres in Rennes (morning reserved for schoolchildren, opening to the public at 12 noon). All the practical information is here.
